“Sunrise in Kentucky;
the start of another day
at a Walters Regional Construction Center.
Professional crews and open communication are necessary ingredients in any form of construction. When you’re in the business of custom buildings, it is all that much more important.”

“There are many areas of the country that now channel the building appearance into meeting community or industrial park aesthetics and codes. Walters Buildings can meet these standards while designing a building that fits your individual application.”

Various Business Structures

“Just as there are many different types of exterior finishes, glass fronts, windows and doors that are used in constructing buildings, there are also many different footings that are better suited for one application than the next.”

“Years ago and somewhat today, local codes tried to phase out or restrict certain buildings because of design. Customer demand because of economical advantage and lower heating and cooling costs has caused these artificial barriers to fall. While offering the solutions to your needs, it is our goal to save you money and please you in the process.”

“When looking to construct a building for a new business, your start-up costs are important as well as the long term costs of heating and cooling. Because of this, Walters Buildings, a coordinated building system company, is your number one candidate.”

Sports & Recreation

“As a company who is integrated from sales to construction crew, we can use many different materials for the building skeleton and exterior. Coordination comes from engineers who are experienced at making these products tie together to produce an economical building that saves you dollars each year on your heating and cooling costs.”

“Your desired use of the building, i.e. office space, manufacturing, storage, etc., is a determining factor in selecting the type of structure that will offer you the most economical advantage. Buildings must look good and also be functional. Our District Sales/Construction Managers are interested on how you plan on using the building to ensure a proper fit when the job is completed.”

Industrial & General Office

“The structure of your building should be made of material that truly adapts to your interior design. Buildings that are functional start at the interior and flow outward. The Walters team of District Sales/Construction Managers along with our engineering staff, manufacturing plants and construction crews give you a coordinated building effort that does just that.”

"Our goal is to construct buildings that are functional as well as good-looking. We meet this goal by having pleasant people who are willing to listen and work with you to make your dream a reality. Our District Sales/ Construction Managers are folks from all walks of life who have something in common. They are nice people who do not push, but rather take the time to listen to your ideas and incorporate them into a design that will work for you."
